

Drug dealers have found a convenient avenue to launder their narcotics money by exploiting the easy-to-obtain Mobile Financial Services in Bangladesh that were originally designed to benefit the underprivileged.