

OB-GYNs in the coastal district of Satkhira are operating on their patients without informing them of the invasive and life-altering procedure of removing their uterus. As many doctors get paid per surgery, hysterectomies have become the default response for all illnesses regardless of the consequences.