

Over 15,000 women serve in the local government, many have no functions or even offices while some have their husbands fulfil the role in their stead even as the government tout's major strides made in women's empowerment.